

Carol Y. Mason
(1902-1956)

Dr. Carol Young Mason passed away on November 26, 1956, in Tulsa, Oklahoma at the age of 54 years after a prolonged illness.

She was born in Watertown, Massachusetts on January 17, 1902, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Mason. Receiving her A.B. degree at Wellesley College in 1924, she continued her education obtaining her A.M. degree at Clark University in 1925. Later Dr. Mason was awarded a Fellowship which led to the Ph. D. degree in geography in 1936 from Clark University.

Dr. Mason served as a Graduate Assistant at the University of Illinois (1925-1927), as an Instructor and Assistant Professor of Geography at Milwaukee-Downer College (1928-1938), as Associate Professor of Geography at Northwest State College and Marysville School of Aeronautics in Marysville, Missouri, and as Associate Professor of Geography, University of Tulsa, heading the geography division of the Department of Geology and Geography there from 1943 to her demise.

Dr. Carol Mason belonged to the A.A.A.S., National Council of Geography Teachers, American Meteorological Society, Association of American Geographers, American Geographical Society, Sigma Xi, and Sigma Delta Epsilon. She was a member of the Oklahoma UNESCO Council and a Geographical Editor of the SOUTHWESTERN SOCIAL SCIENCE QUARTERLY from 1946 to 1948. Her articles centered on geographical and geological subjects.

Surviving her is a sister, Mrs. LeBaron Briggs, of Buzzards Bay, Massachusetts. Her brilliant mind and her friendly nature will cause her to be long remembered.

David Winslow