

Contributors

Ana Bracic, PhD, is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Oklahoma and co-founder of the Community Engagement + Experiments Lab. Her research focuses on questions of human rights, discrimination, the persistence of social exclusion; she is an expert on field research methods. Dr. Bracic earned her PhD from New York University in 2013.

Aimee L. Franklin, PhD, is Presidential Professor in the Department of Political Science at the University of Oklahoma with research interests in public budgeting and citizen engagement. Her email is alfranklin@ou.edu.

Athena Grossman is completing the MPA program at the University of Oklahoma. She participated as a Research Assistant in Drought Portal Information Project at SCIPP. Her email is Athena.S.Grossman-1 @ou.edu.

Mackenzie Israel-Trummel, PhD, is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Oklahoma and co-founder of the Community Engagement + Experiments Lab. Her research focuses on race, gender, and American political behavior. Dr. Israel-Trummel earned her PhD from Stanford University in 2015.

Jennifer Le is completing the BA/MPA Accelerated Degree program at the University of Oklahoma. She participated as a Research Assistant in Drought Portal Information Project at SCIPP. Her email is Jennifer.A.Le-1@ou.edu.

Aaron Mason, PhD, is Professor of Political Science at Northwestern Oklahoma State University in Alva. He has published articles on American Indian tribal governments and state government interaction as well as on the founding fathers and the U.S. Constitution. He serves as the Co-Executive Director of the NWOSU-Institute for Citizenship Studies.

Samuel Moore is an Honors student completing the BA/MPA Accelerated Degree program at the University of Oklahoma. He participated in this research as part of the Carl Albert Congressional Studies Undergraduate Fellow Program. His email is Samuel.A.Moore-1@ou.edu

Mark Shafer, PhD, is Principal Investigator for the Southern Climate Impacts Planning Program, a member of the Oklahoma Climatological Survey and an Assistant Professor in Geography and Environmental Sustainability at the University of Oklahoma. His main research interests are in drought and human adaptation.

Allyson F. Shortle, PhD, is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Oklahoma and co-founder of the Community Engagement + Experiments Lab. Her research focuses on immigration, identity, and American public opinion. Dr. Shortle earned her PhD from The Ohio State University in 2012.

Quentin P. Taylor, PhD, is Professor of History and Political Science at Rogers State University and a former Resident Scholar at Liberty Fund. He is the author of a number of books and articles on a variety of historical, political, and philosophical topics. In 2014 he received the Scholar of the Year Award from the Oklahoma Political Science Association.